jim boles designs

After a successful quarter century career in Information Technology providing solutions has become second nature to me. My approach to design is solutions oriented, providing solutions for designers and private commissions.

Glass is a primary media for my designs, and the range of styles is limitless, enabling me to satisfy any customer's needs, either for home decor or for architectural accents.

I own a well-equipped photography and kiln-formed glass studio where projects are executed. I have access to commercial facilities for architectural sized glass projects.

Photography is a strong skill set both in capture and digital manipulation of images. Many designs begin as photography studio set ups for prototyping, then executing in glass, other media, or simply finishing in photographic prints.

Mixed media is my specialty where glass, photography, enameling and metal work are united in a single concept creating unique works of art.

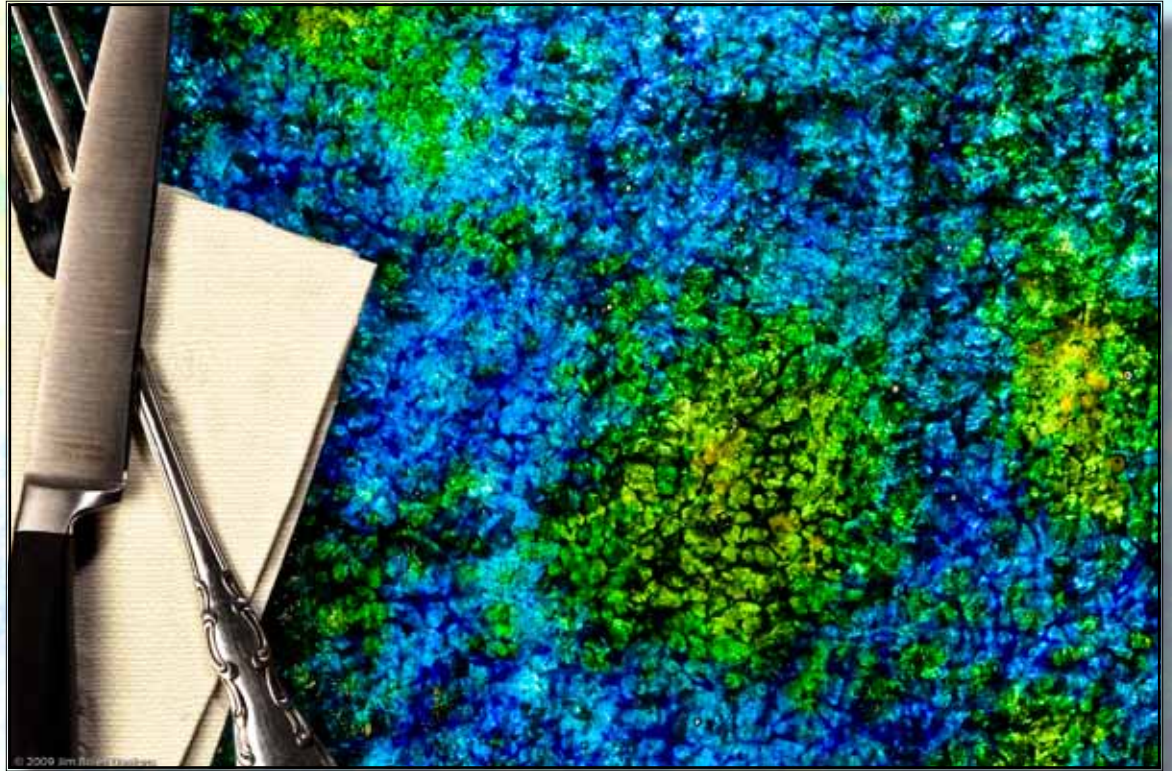

My design approach is customer focused and team oriented. Clear communication in every phase of a project is the key to pleasant relationships and a happy customer.

When a customer desires something beyond the standard offerings or highly customized accent or focal point, then think of glass... think of Jim Boles Designs.

A customer's excitement is your path to success.
My work is exciting.
